

Lifespan

Jody Azzouni

Originally published in HQ Poetry Magazine 27&28
© 2003 Jody Azzouni

This is how it must be seen: As a whole,
a season intrinsically gestalt:
four-dimensional in impact.
It is hard to remember this as the bleeding now rushes by, as we total momentary loss in backward glancings.

It is a diffuse God we live within not to an afterlife, but in every present there and then always.